May 18 Liberty Park

The May 18 Liberty Park located just across the Kimdaejung Convention Center. It is a place where Sangmudae(military court) and military jail during the Democratization Movement are reproduced. The original places of military court and jail was located 100m away from the park. At that time, people engaged in the Democratization Movement were arrested, tortured, and investigated at the Sangmudae jail. Most of them were referred to the military trials and eventually died innocently. After Sangmudae was relocated to Jangseong, a suburb of Gwangju City, in March 1998, the site was turned into the park allowing visitors to vividly feel the circumstances at that time.

This tour provides visitors with opportunity to watch a short video, record of the May 18th Democratization Movement. Also, during the program participants will get a chance to have conversations with citizens who participated in the Democratization Movement and take a look at the jail and court.
